

Browser Interface

The diagram shows a large rounded rectangle representing the 'Client node'. Inside it are three smaller rounded rectangles stacked vertically. The top one is light gray and labeled 'Browser Interface'. The middle one is light gray and labeled 'DNS resolution'. The bottom one is white and labeled 'Operating system'.

DNS resolution

Operating system

Client node

Load balancer

The diagram shows a large rounded rectangle representing the 'Server node'. Inside it are three smaller rounded rectangles stacked vertically. The top one is light gray and labeled 'Load balancer'. The middle one is light gray and labeled 'HTTP Proxy' and 'Key Value storage'. The bottom one is white and labeled 'Web Server' and 'Connected to a database'.

HTTP Proxy
Key Value storage

Web Server
Connected to a database

Server node